

Lauren Jansons

Animator—Ink & Paint Artist—Clean up artist

About me...

Born in South Africa, most of my education was in the UK, apart from 3 years in Singapore. I have spent much of my life travelling, and have been introduced to many artistic influences. I am interested in different life styles and cultures and am never afraid of new and challenging experiences.

I am keen to learn new things no matter how obscure or challenging. I also believe that I now have the tools to allow me to become a highly valueble member of a production team, contributing new and imaginative ideas. I work well under pressure and thrive in working in a team. I am able to learn new softwares quickly and efficiently and willing to improve outside working hours. I believe the best way to accomplish a positive outcome is to maintain a healthy and friendly working environment.

While at University I found my skills best lay within pre-production. I have worked in several projects as art director and found it incredibly rewarding. I also enjoyed many other roles including directing, character design and storyboard artist.

For my final third year project, I created a small team within which I designed and directed my own short. Using a combination of 2D, mixed media and 3D designs we created a three minute film called 'Infinitus Artificium'. We were fortunate to have the use of a motion capture studio (Pine-wood Studios) to film the two dancers. As the director of this project, I was in charge of the animation, the dancer's routine and the musical composition. I was also the key animator in this project and used the software 'Toon boom' and 'TVPaint', drawing on my skills gained from weekly life drawing classes.
